PROGRESS AS OF EARLY SUMMER 2023

The Vision

Rooted in Toronto's past. Influencing its future.

A joint venture between RioCan REIT and Allied Properties REIT, The Well is a bold reflection of Toronto's energy and diversity, and an extension of the urban vibrancy of King West. Bordering Front, Spadina and Wellington, it is a mixture of retail, commercial and residential space in downtown Toronto that will draw approximately 22,000 daily visitors, including the approximately 11,000 residents and employees that will live and work at The Well. The design includes 1.2 million square feet of office space and 320,000 square feet of retail and food service. It has 1,700 residential units spread throughout six purpose-built rental and condominium buildings, plus one office building connected to a three-level Retail Colonnade.

Here, the idea of livability is real, with easy access to everything that Toronto demands, expects and deserves: transit, culture, wellness, sustainability, diverse food options, inspiring workplaces and curated entertainment.

The Well is a choreographed mix of urban experiences, dynamic architecture and interconnected public spaces that will attract visitors from across the city and beyond. With tenants offering experiences ranging from immersive multi-sensory spaces to recreational games and entertainment, The Well is truly a destination for local and international tourists alike.

Thoughtful and purposeful design underpins everything it achieves. With a pedestrian-centred focus, The Well responds to some of the strongest desires of downtown Toronto today: walkability, community-building, and the ability to create connections while seamlessly blending old and new.

More than a collection of buildings, The Well is an amenity-rich, urban streetscape and a vital, fully functioning environment that puts the things people want most within easy reach. Perfectly situated at Front, Spadina and Wellington, The Well is a gateway to King West with established connections to public transit, airports, trains, buses and highways.

The Well sets the stage for meaningful experiences that draw people from down the street and across the globe to eat, shop, work, live and play in Toronto.

A feast for the senses awaits with inspired restaurant fare from chefs near and far and the arrival of Wellington Market, Toronto's newest go-to location for market-fresh artisan food, culinary exploration and experiences to share. The market features Wellington Event Venue, a 200 guest activation space for events, conferences, sporting broadcasts and more.

Reimagined retail and service concepts invite those who seek the extraordinary, with style trailblazers, fashion up-and-comers and established world-class brands. Bright, open-concept, sustainable workspaces attract the next generation of tech, media, creative and digital innovators to take root and shape tomorrow. Green spaces, convenient pedestrian-first living and a year-round open-air covered promenade encourage exploration and discovery, creating a gathering space and building a stronger sense of community. An eclectic and ever-changing mix of contemporary events invites everyone to indulge in the unexpected.

Materials used in the design were carefully considered to reflect the surrounding neighbourhoods, pulling visual cues from the existing architecture along King Street West. Multiple architects and visions came together to tell a cohesive architectural story that purposefully moves from red brick to wood to concrete as The Well flows west to east towards the financial district. Overhead, a soaring glass canopy responds to the unique seasonal diversity of Toronto, sheltering pedestrians as they move through The Well. This allows for year-round access to green spaces and the al fresco shopping and dining experience that people crave.

The Well provides space for 7,000 new office jobs, 1,300 new retail jobs and 1,700 residences across seven buildings — projected to contribute just under $1 billion annually of economic activity — and has achieved Platinum-level WIRED® certification from WireScore for its best-in-class digital connectivity, technological infrastructure, and commitment to emerging digital trends.

With the addition of transit, green spaces and new opportunities for eating, shopping, working, playing and living, The Well is a culmination of a series of small additions that elevate the area exponentially. It's more than the sum of its parts. It's the best of them, amplified. And it's just what Toronto has been waiting for.

Architectural Harmony

At its heart, The Well is about fluidity, creativity and connectivity. Toronto craves venues and opportunities to explore and discover. Adamson Architects, HPA, BDP, GPA Architects and Claude Cormier have woven opportunities for all throughout the master plan.

A pedestrian-first design complements King West's existing laneways, encouraging a seamless flow to, from, and within The Well. Special emphasis is placed on creating a fluid design that's simple to navigate, enabling people to move easily throughout.

An evolving material palette mirrors the transition from the urban vibrancy of King Street West to the hustle of the financial district. Bold brick and beam (reclaimed from the former buildings) blend seamlessly with sophisticated applications of terracotta, glass and steel.

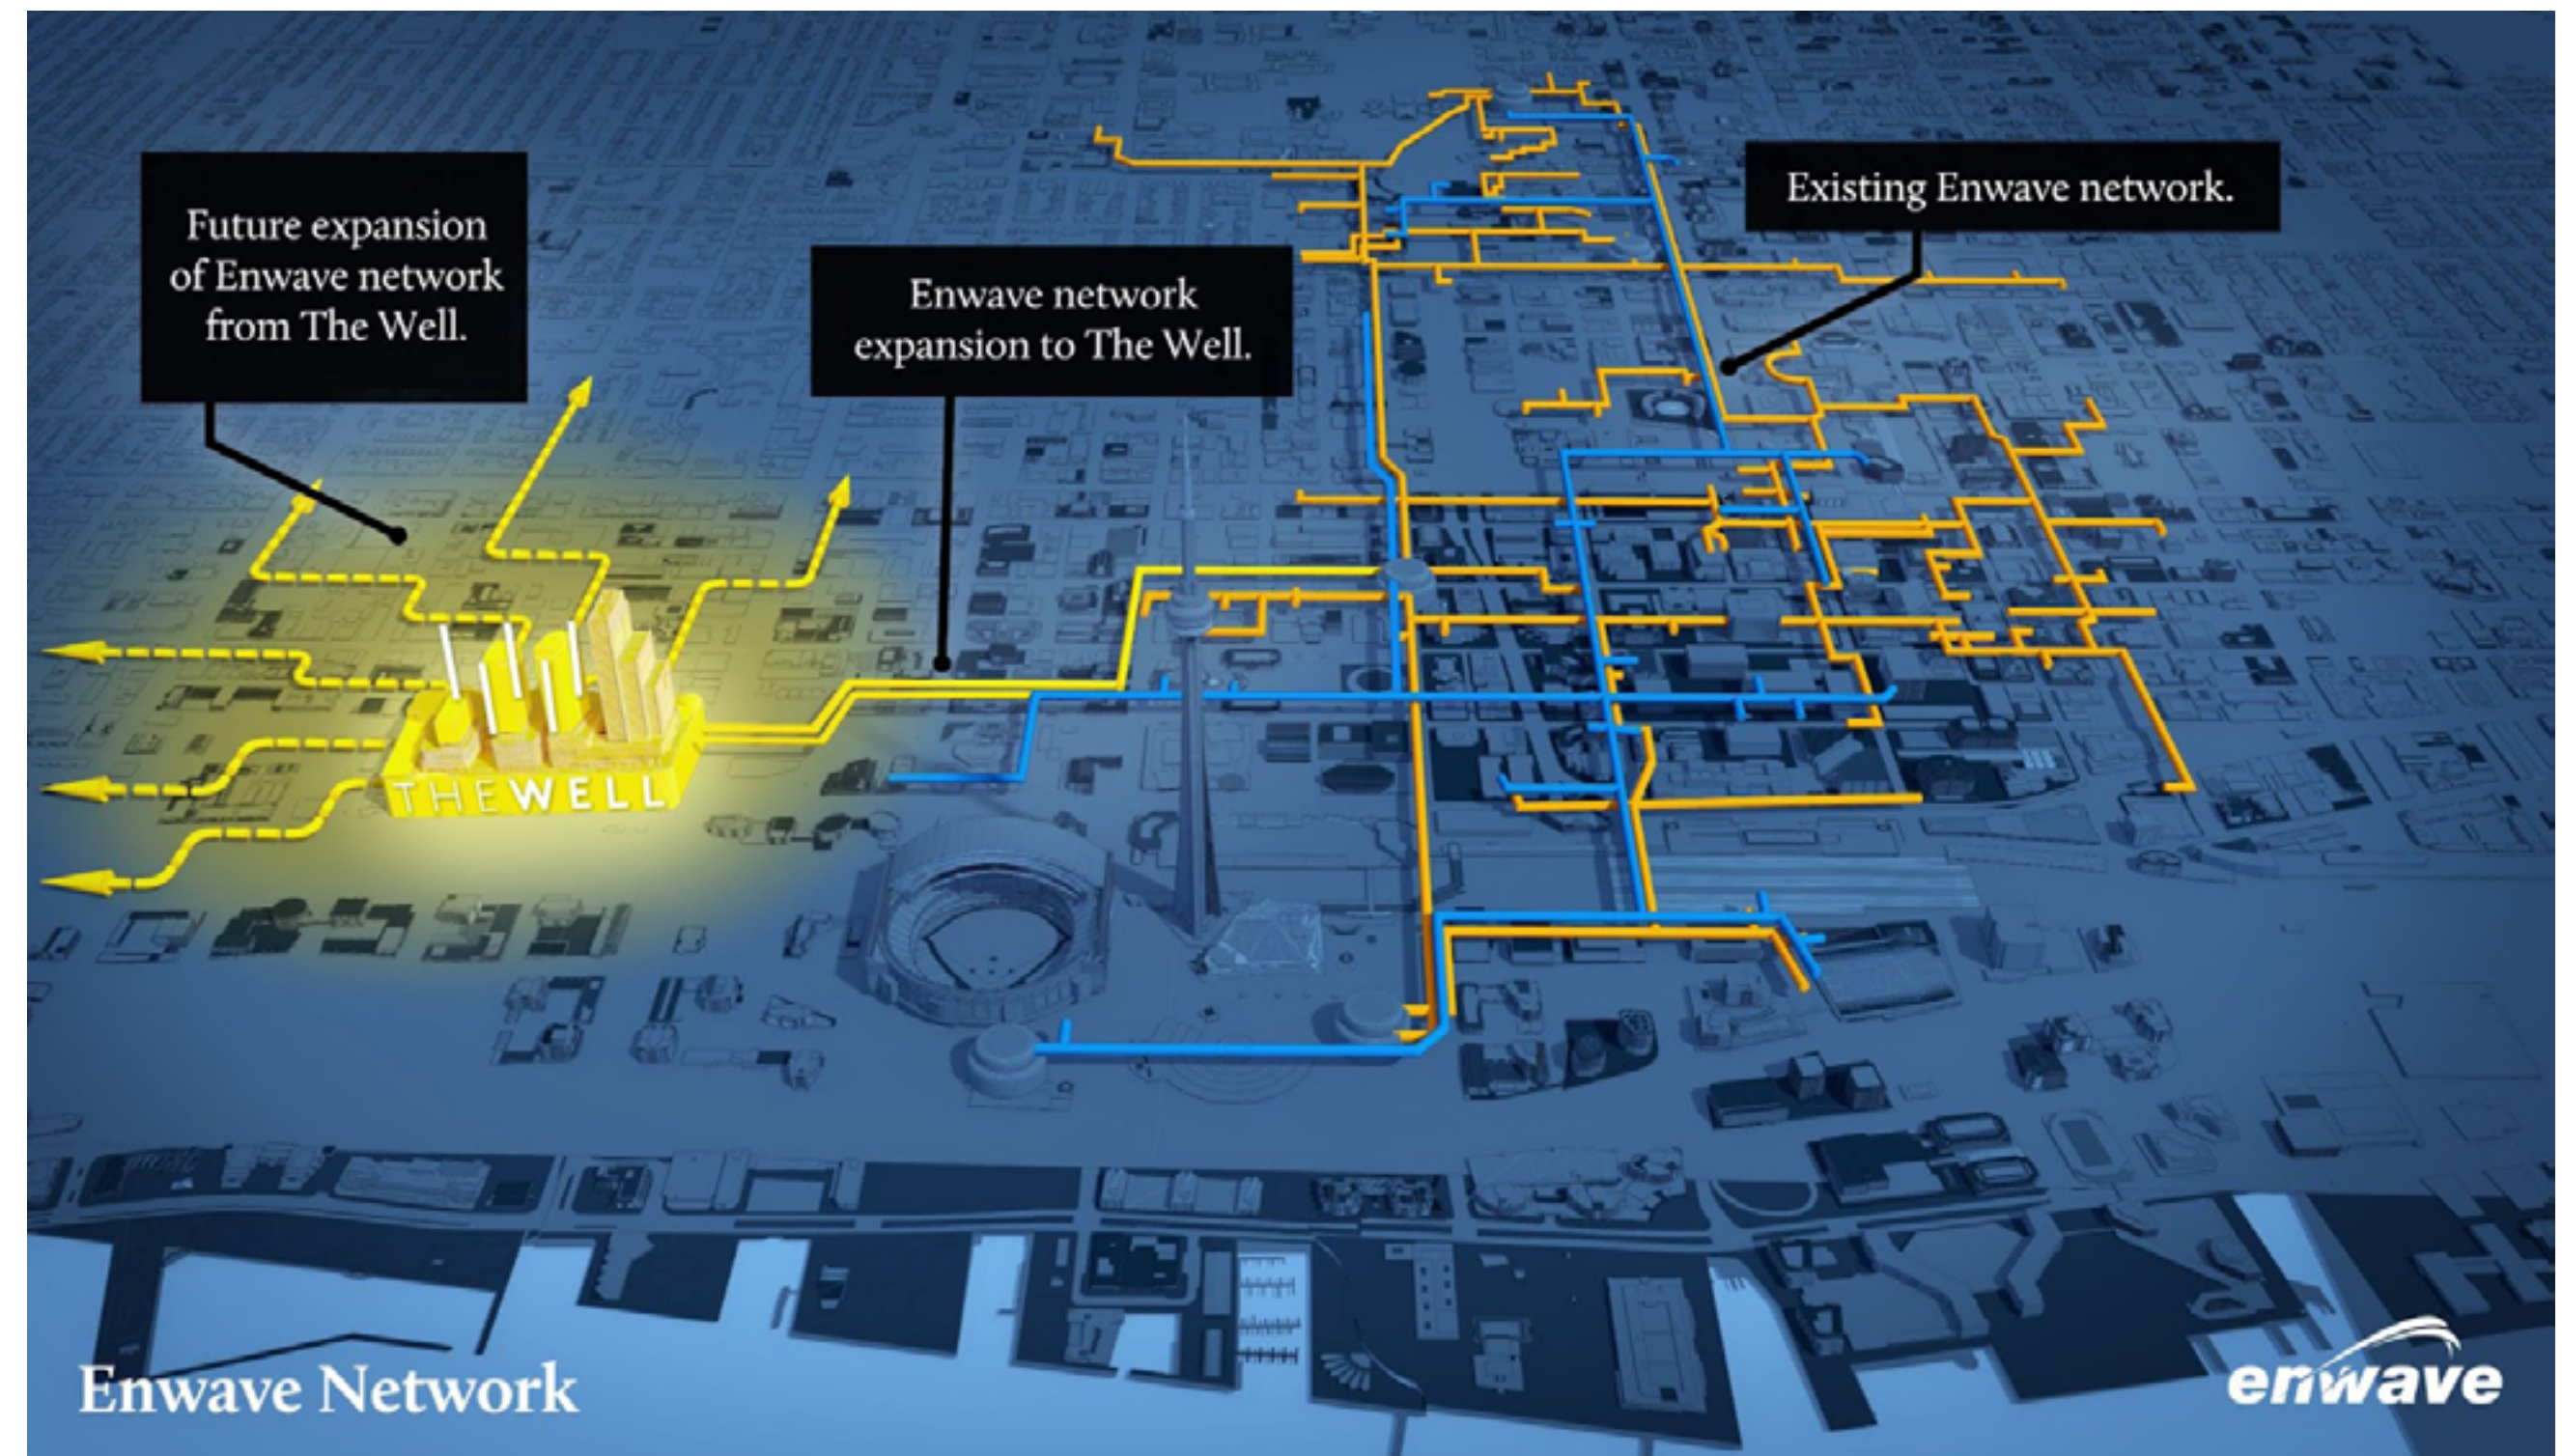

A dramatic sculptural glass canopy is suspended above the retail colonnade of The Well, covering sixty percent of the main East-West connection. The canopy provides a year-round shield against the elements while enabling a permeable, outdoor experience.

Thermal Energy System

The Well is built, quite literally, on a foundation of sustainability. The Well's development team joined forces with Enwave Energy Corporation (Enwave) to extend the existing Deep Lake Water Cooling and hot water distribution networks by building a new energy storage facility housed at The Well. This joint undertaking enables westward expansion of Enwave's systems, giving both The Well and surrounding communities access to sustainable cooling and heating solutions.

Enwave's new thermal energy storage facility consists of one 2 million gallon tank underneath The Well (the equivalent of 3 Olympic-sized swimming pools). The tank stores temperature-controlled water fed by Enwave's existing Deep Lake Water Cooling system and a newly developed high-efficiency hot water loop. As an anchor site, the installation serves The Well community and buildings in neighbouring areas, providing the first low-carbon, resilient cooling and heating option for the downtown west community.

Connections

Transportation

Situated at Front and Spadina, The Well acts as a gateway to King West, with established connections to public transportation, two airports, trains and more. Existing streetcars on Spadina Avenue and King Street provide north-south and east-west service to and from The Well, while Toronto's main transportation hub, Union Station, is within walking distance. Union connects professionals, visitors and residents of The Well to GO Transit, VIA Rail and TTC, as well as Pearson Airport via the UP Express. Billy Bishop Airport provides further connections to and from Toronto.

“What is really fascinating is the mixture of uses that create this unique dynamic. The Well should mean many things to many people. There is this great synergy between all of those uses all in one place.”

– Adrian Price, BDP Architects

An integral part of an amenity-rich community, The Well's work space supports the next generation of tech, media, creative and digital innovators as they ignite ideas and push the limits. Workspaces are housed in buildings reflective of the industrial character of King West, and soar to new heights in the signature office tower at the corner of Front and Spadina. Floor-to-ceiling windows, displacement ventilation system and personal comfort controls all work to provide occupiers with a healthy and productive environment. An offset elevator core opens up the floor plates and enables workplace design solutions that balance collaboration and focus, yet remain adaptable to unique organizational needs. A commitment to environmental stewardship is foundational, and the tower's unique design supports internal sky gardens and external sky terraces of green space.

8 Spadina Ave

Workspaces at The Well are housed in buildings reflective of the industrial character of King West, and soar to new heights in the 8 Spadina Ave signature office tower.

Offices offer sophisticated workplace solutions, with over 1.2M sq. ft. of flexible space in one of the most inspiring professional hubs in Toronto. Registered under the LEED® green building rating system, and targeting a LEED® Platinum certification, this 38-floor offset core building accommodates the evolving needs of today's office users. It's also Wired Certified Platinum for the building's digital connectivity.

An Iconic Lobby

The entranceway at 8 Spadina Ave opens into a spacious light-filled lobby. Acting as a gateway from the bustling Front & Spadina intersection, the lobby welcomes the community in with a grand wood-paneled 3-storey ceiling, marble walls, and polished concrete columns. Floor to ceiling windows on the west and south walls welcome in daylight and keep the space connected with the busy streetscape.

With elegant seating created using the reclaimed wood from the industrial buildings that previously stood at the site, the lobby is more than just an entranceway – it is a space and destination in and of itself.

The 8 Spadina Ave lobby notably features an art-deco door frame salvaged from the Globe & Mail building that used to call the site of The Well home.

Located on the newly revitalized Wellington Street, the two exclusive buildings at 425 and 435 feature 171 and 160 suites, respectively. Each of the one, two and three bedroom spacious, luxury suites are lavishly designed. The Residences at The Well feature state of the art building amenities managed by Rhapsody Property Management Services, including a fitness centre, massage room, yoga studio, media room, rooftop terrace and bike storage — all of which are all complemented by The Well's exceptional dining and retail offerings and modern workspaces.

Condos

The Well condominiums by Tridel offer residents two distinct living opportunities across three buildings:

The Well Signature Condominium is a luxury ninety-eight suite boutique building purposely located on the quiet side of Wellington Street, which offers a rare combination of expansive suites, peaceful surroundings and historic views, all within steps of downtown Toronto's bustling west end. A triumph of design, the luxury boutique condo rises 14 storeys and overlooks the grand retail colonnade below, blending the towering modernity with the street's historic façade at street level.

The Classic Series consists of two towers along Front Street with 400 suites and 258 suites, respectively. Soaring above The Well, these suites offer spectacular views of the city. The modern buildings are designed to meld leading-edge finishes with comfort and convenience. Inside, contemporary finishes create the perfect backdrop for an enriched urban lifestyle.

All three buildings feature individualized sets of refined amenity spaces, including party rooms, outdoor terraces with pools, fitness centres and more. With a pedestrian-centered focus, Tridel at The Well responds to some of the strongest desires of downtown Toronto today: walkability, community-building, the ability to create connections while seamlessly blending old and new.

Exploration and discovery are at the heart of The Well experience. The Well is much more than a place to eat, shop, work, live and play. It's the spirit of curiosity and trial that comes alive in vibrant, experiential retail offerings. It's the engaging and consciously planned indoor and outdoor community spaces like the Colonnade Court, The Well Rink, and National Beer Garden that play host to novel programming, placemaking and events. It's the collaborative and sustainable workspaces that attract and breed new ways of thinking and commerce. And it's the masterfully planned food offerings, including elevated and inspired dining at Wellington Restaurants and the Wellington Market, where the convenience of local favourites heightens the international flair of culinary innovation. The Well is where relationships transcend transactions, where exploration precedes expectation and where community and individuality thrive in unison through common experience and learning.

“This is choreographed city-building. A collection of small moves that add up to something transformational while celebrating the public domain.”

– Claude Cormier, Landscape Architect

Public Realm

Renowned Landscape Architect Claude Cormier designed a series of parks and open spaces that are rooted in history and local context, infusing the public realm with a sense of community, joy and playfulness.

1 / Public Spaces

Indoor and outdoor spaces populate the entire site plan for The Well, enabling the opportunity to gather, entertain and engage with art, culture and community programming.

2 / Wellington Park Promenade

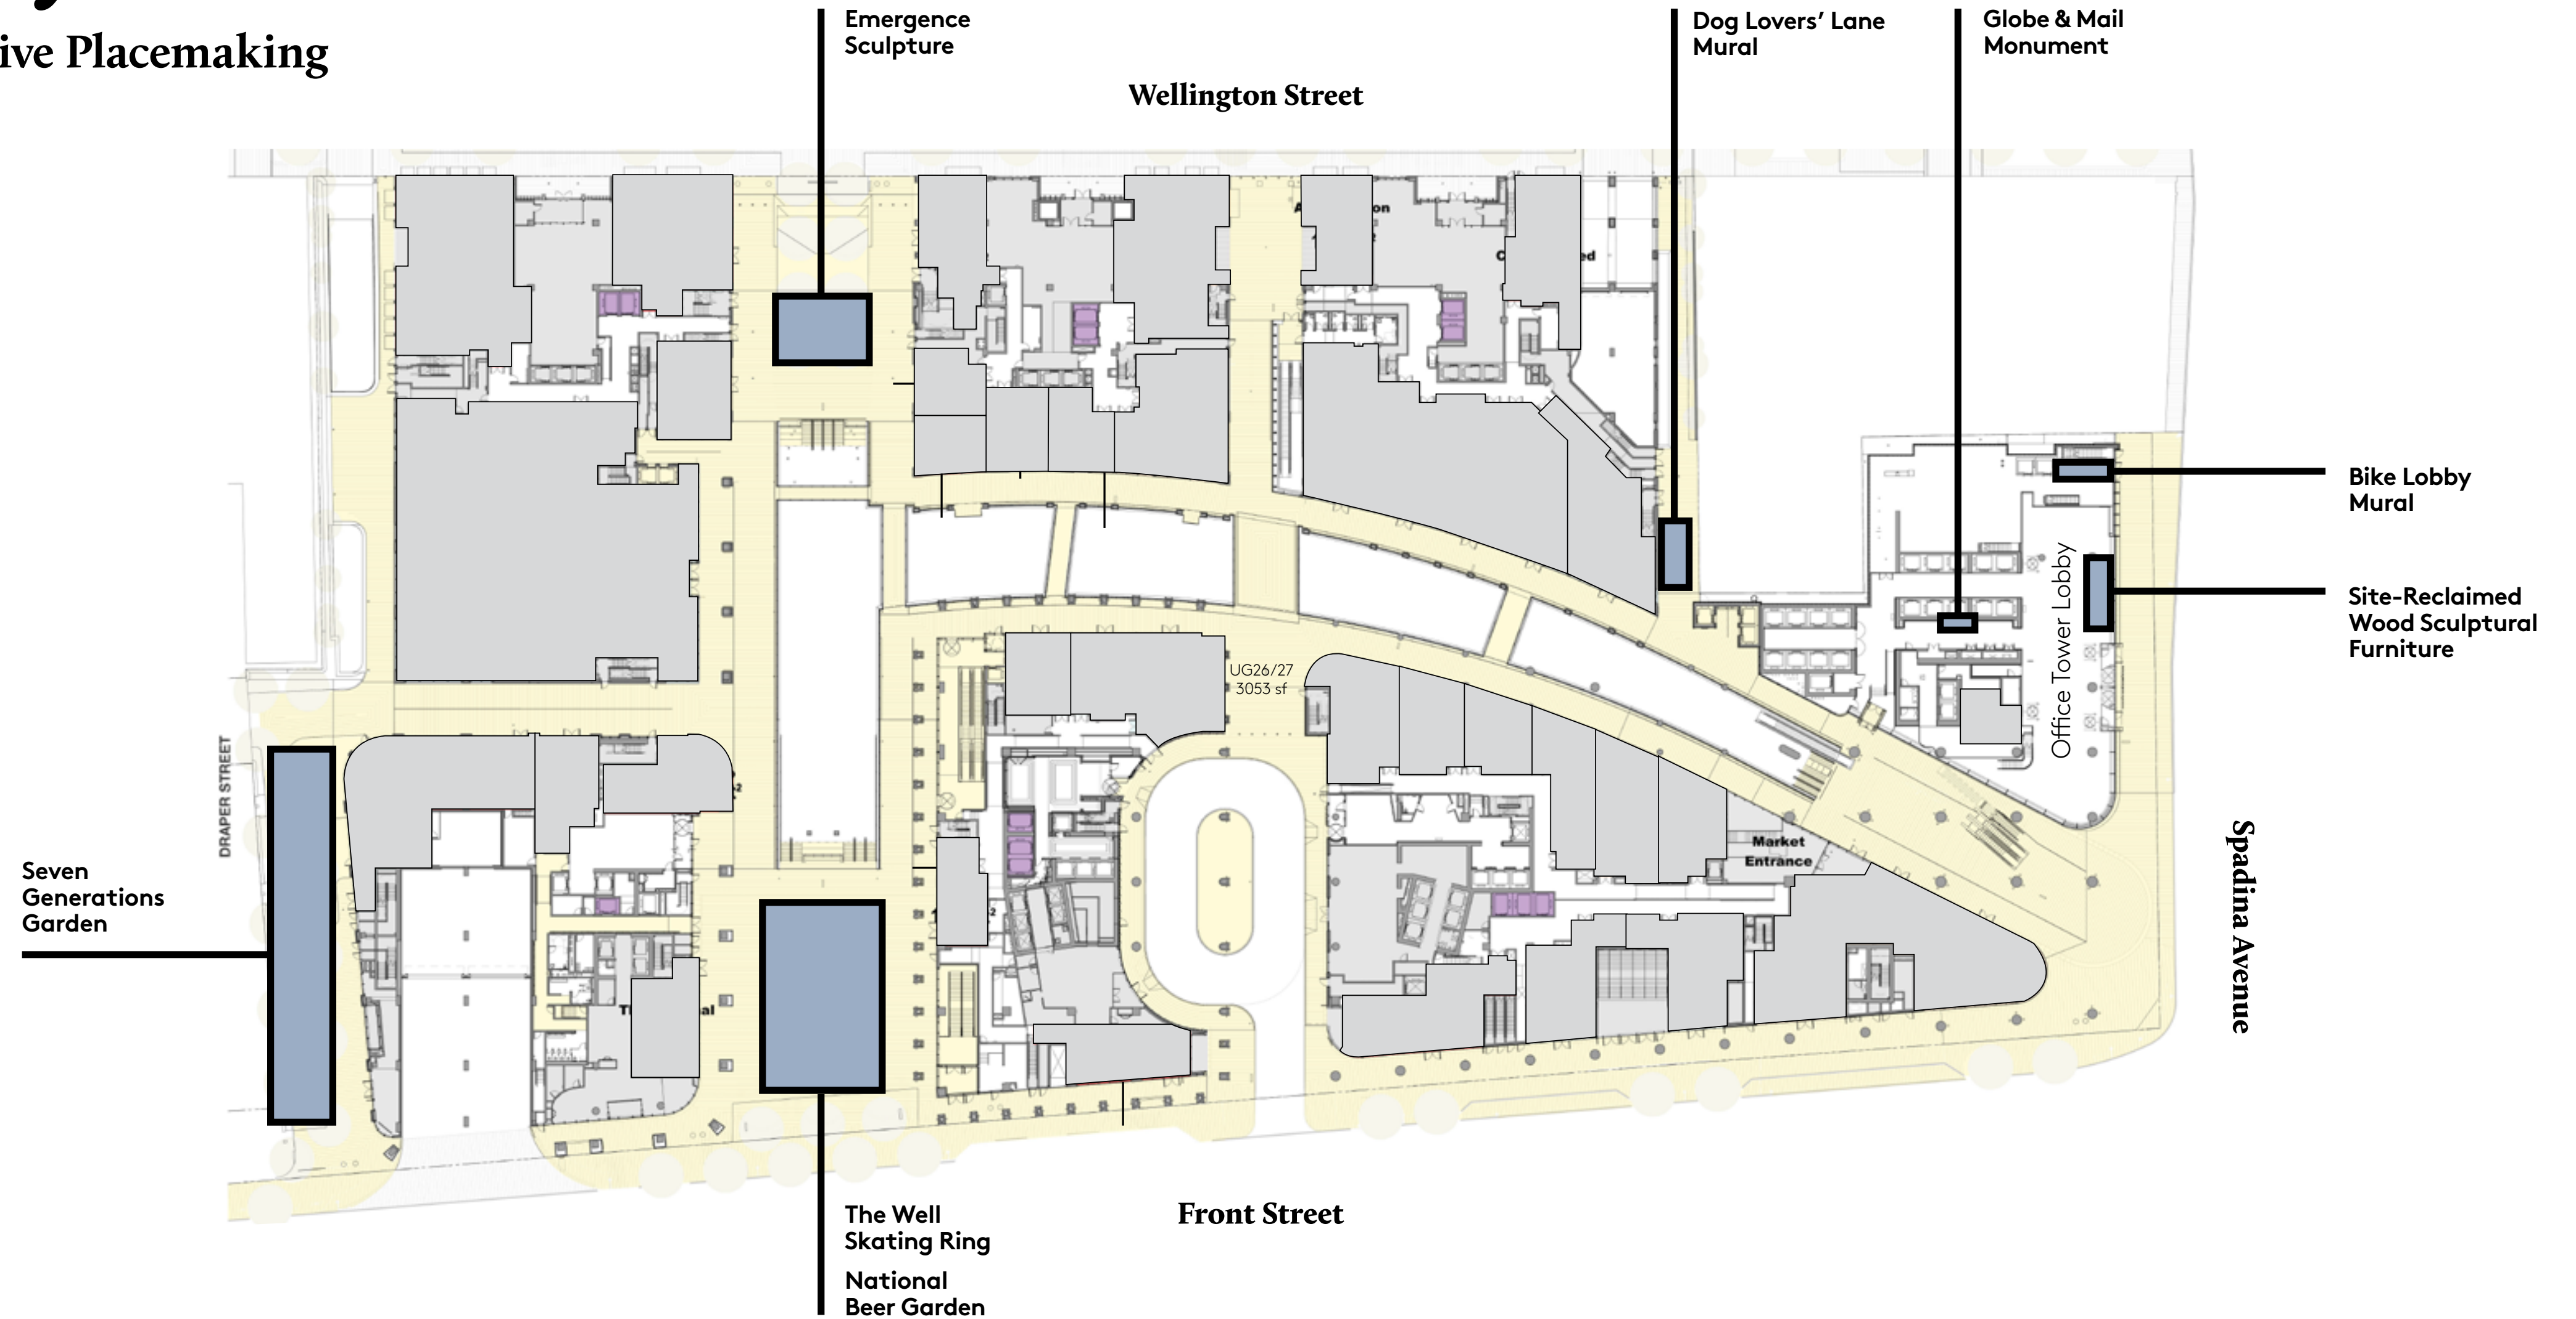

A 450-metre linear park with an 18-metre-wide promenade stretches from Clarence Square to Victoria Memorial Park along the south side of Wellington Street, realizing a vision for the street that dates back to the mid-19th century. The promenade is lined with restaurants, making it a marquee destination and gathering place.

3 / Draper Park
